QUESTION TWO

Peter and John have been trading in partnership for several years sharing profits and losses equally after allowing interest on their capitals at the rate of 8% per annum. On 1 September 2020, the Director of their business, James, was admitted as a partner and was to share one fifth of the profits after interest on capital. Peter and John were to share the balance of the profits equally but guaranteed that James's share would not fall below Sh.1,200,000 per annum.

James was not required to introduce any capital at the date of admission but agreed to retain Sh.300,000 of his profit share at the end of each financial year to be credited to his capital account until the balance reached Sh.1,500,000. Until that time, no interest was to be allowed on his capital.

Goodwill was agreed at Sh.3,000,000 as at 1 September 2020, but was not to be maintained in the accounts. Land and buildings were professionally valued at Sh.5,680,000 on the same date while the book value of equipment and motor vehicles was to be reduced to Sh.3,000,000 as at that date.

James was previously entitled to a bonus of 5% of the gross profit. This bonus was payable half yearly. The Director's bonus and the Director's salary were to cease when he became a partner.

QUESTION FIVE

- Outline four reasons why it is important to undertake bank reconciliation. (4 marks)
- The income statement of United Trading Enterprises (UTE) for the year ended 31 December 2017, as prepared by an accounts assistant, indicated a net profit of Sh.49,360,000. The cash book as at 31 December 2017 showed a balance at bank of Sh.6,440,000. Your attention, however, has been drawn to the following matters:
 - Cheques from customers totalling Sh.4,980,000 which were recorded in the cash book on 29 December 2017, were actually not credited by the bank until 2 January 2018.
 - Cheques issued on 31 December 2017 totalling Sh.7,420,000 in favour of suppliers were not paid by the bank until after the end of the year (that is, after 31 December 2017).
 - On 22 November 2017, the bank paid an amount of Sh.3,600,000 with respect to a standing order from UTE for rent of business premises for the three months to 31 January 2018 but, unfortunately, no entry for this payment had been made in the cash book. Additionally, no record of this rent had been made in the income statement for the period.

4. On 31 December 2017, Mr. Ken Abusi, a customer, had paid Sh.2,340,000 directly into UTE's bank account in full settlement of a debt of Sh.2,400,000 owing to UTE but no entry had been made in the books.
5. On 31 December 2017, a cheque for Sh.480,000 was received from a customer in settlement of a sales invoice for the same amount. The cheques were lodged into UTE's bank account. However, still on 31 December 2017, the customer returned the goods and also instructed his bankers not to pay the cheque. This instruction was carried out the same day but no entries in respect of these latter developments have been made in UTE's books. The cost of these goods amounting to Sh.320,000 was not included in the closing inventories.
6. A cheque for Sh.840,000 from an insurance company in settlement of a claim for damage to inventory by fire had been paid into and credited by the bank on 21 December 2017, but an estimated amount of Sh.800,000 had been entered in UTE's income statement.

QUESTION ONE

Julia Mila is an accounting student. On her first week as an intern in Mwenda Pole Ltd., she prepared the final statements of account for the company, but they did not balance. She thus transferred the difference to the suspense account.

The statement of financial position for Mwenda Pole Ltd. as at 31 March 2017 was as follows:

Statement of financial position as at 31 March 2017
	Cost	Accumulated depreciation	Net book value

You have been requested by the chief accountant of Mwenda Pole Ltd. to find out the cause of the balance in the suspense account. On investigation of the books of account, you discover the following:

1. A cheque of Sh.375,000 from a debtor was correctly entered in the cash book but was posted to the wrong side of the debtor's account.
2. Sales day book was overcast by Sh.2,400,000.
3. Motor vehicles were not depreciated for the year ended 31 March 2017. Depreciation is to be provided at the rate of 15% per annum on reducing balance basis. There were no disposals or acquisitions of motor vehicles during the year.

5. Return inwards of Sh.1,350,000 was erroneously entered in the purchases day book.
6. The trade receivables were overstated by Sh.2,130,000.
7. An amount of Sh.600,000 was omitted from the trade payables.
8. Discount allowed of Sh.1,350,000 had been correctly entered in the cash book but was posted to the credit side of the discount allowed account.
9. Cash sale of Sh.6,000,000 was correctly posted to the sales account, but debited in the 12% debentures account. This did not affect the debenture interest paid by the company during the year.
